

IDENTIFIED AS HE LAY IN HIS COFFIN.

An Intensely Dramatic Scene at a Funeral In Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—(Spl.)—A funeral was interrupted yesterday in order that the body about to be buried might be identified as one of the conspirators in the wrecking of the Heldmaier and Edgeworth stone yards on Aug. 12, when great quantities of dynamite were placed under the machines and they were blown to pieces.

Frank Hardy, who has turned state's evidence against his partners in the plot, was taken from the jail to where the body of Thomas Brow lay. Hardy had not been told what was wanted of him. The mourners and friends of the family were gathered about the coffin, when Hardy was taken into the house. He was led up to the body, which was lying in the front room with a black cloth nailed down over a canopy which had been placed over it.

"Look at the face of that man, Hardy, but don't say a word," was whispered into his ear.

"I can't see him," he said. Then, with a sudden impulse he grasped the cloth in both hands and tore it from its fastenings. As the cloth rolled back Hardy's face turned white and suppressed "My Good God!" told of his agitation.

"That body is of the man they called 'Lou' when the arrangements were made to do the job," said Hardy. "He lit the fuse at the Heldmaier yard."

CORA S. KIMBALL

The Only Woman Bill Poster.

Dubuque, Ia., Oct. 2.—(Spl.)—Iowa boasts of the only woman bill poster in the world in Miss Cora S. Kimball, who is wielding her brush on fences with good effect, both artistically and financially.

When Miss Kimball completed her art studies she found there was little demand for art and less money in it. So she donned high boots, a short skirt and a felt hat, climbed a ladder and painted her sign as a bill poster. Now she has all the work she can do, and no contract is too big or too difficult for her to undertake.

BAD GANG

At Fair From Cleveland.

One Man Reported His Pocket Picked of $20.

Akron police have been notified from Cleveland to look out for a bad gang from that city.

It is claimed the gang is composed of some clever pickpockets, and that it arrived in Akron Wednesday to work at the fair. Extra precautions have been taken by the police.

While no cases of pocket-picking have been reported to the police, it is claimed some people have lost small amounts. A Bedford man, whose name was not asked, called at the N. O. T. office to procure an A., B. & C. ticket home. He said he had his pocket picked of $20 and his ticket.

TWO BOYS

Hanged to a Rail- Road Trestle.

They Stoned an Ohio Printer to Death.

Mob Lynched Them With Little Difficulty.

Shelbyville, Ky., Oct. 2.—(Spl.)—Jumbo Fields, aged 16, and Clarence Garnett, aged 18, both colored, were taken from the jail here by a mob early this morning and hanged from the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad trestle, within 100 yards of the jail.

They were charged with the murder of Will C. Hart, a printer, who was stoned to death on the night of Saturday, Sept. 21.

The mob's work was done so quietly, that only the jailer and two or three others knew what had occurred.

Not until the city was astir for the usual day's duties was anything more known about it, as there was no use to sound the alarm after the lynching had occurred.

Hart came to Shelbyville from Lebanon, O., and at the time of his death was employed as a printer at the office of the Shelby Sentinel.

Hart's body was found at 1 o'clock Saturday night, Sept. 21, in a path leading from the house of Annie Fields, the mother of Fields, in a negro settlement, called Bucktown.

At the coroner's inquest it developed that Hart had gone to the house of the woman for some purpose not positively explained. Fields afterwards entered and had some trouble with Hart. Fields went to the neighboring house of Clarence Garnett, a boy friend, and got him to go back and help settle matters. There was some evidence indicating that Hart was first struck by the woman. Hart either fell dead outside the house or was killed inside and dragged out, the latter being the generally accepted theory. Fields and Garnett were arrested on the night of the killing.

Monday night a small mob tried to get into the jail but was unsuccessful. Last night, some time after midnight, a mob of unknown numbers assembled. The jailer refused a demand for the keys and thereupon the doors were battered down.

First Silver Wedding.

According to a historian, this is the way the first silver wedding came about. It was in the time of Hugues Caput. Two of his most faithful servants, a man and a woman, had grown gray in his employ. How could he reward them?

Calling the woman, he said: "Your service is great, greater than the man's, whose service is great enough, for the woman always finds work harder than a man, and therefore I will give you a reward. At your age I know of none better than a dowry and a husband. The dowry is here. This farm from this time forth belongs to you. If this man who has worked with you for five and twenty years is willing to marry you, then the husband is ready."

"Your majesty," said the old peasant, "how is it possible that we should marry, having already other heirs?"

Points on a Lobster.

A lobster is found in the water, but not always—in fact, some of the most successful lobsters that ever lobstered were born and raised on dry land.

One can usually tell a lobster by its actions. For instance, if a young man enters a crowded drawing room and walks all over the feet of the assembled guests without their consent or approval the young man at once becomes a lobster.

The fathers of lobsters usually have money. In fact, it is difficult to be a real stand up and fall down lobster unless the lobster's father has money.

It is an odd fact that many girls seem to admire lobsters. It would seem that a girl ought to know better, but she doesn't until she marries a lobster. Then she tumbles.

Lobsters have no brains. If you don't believe it, split a lobster's head open with an ax if you don't care anything about the ax.

This world would be a much more desirable abiding place if there were no lobsters in it.—Ohio State Journal.

Hodge, the Single Minded.

An election petition was being tried, and a witness was called to prove "bribery."

"One of the gentlemen says to me, 'Hodge, you must vote for the Tories,'"

"said the witness.

"And what did you answer to that?"

"asked the counsel.

"'Well,' says I, 'How much?'"

"And what did the agent say?"

"'He didn't say nothing. The other gentleman comes to me and says, 'You must vote for the Liberals, Hodge.'"

"And what did you answer?"

"'I said, 'How much? So he arst me what t'other gentleman offered me, and I told him 5 shillings.'"

"And what did the Liberal agent do?"

"'He gave me 10 shillings.'"

"Counsel sits down triumphant, and up starts the other side.

"'Did you vote for the Liberals?'"

"'No.'"

"'Did you vote for the Tories?'"

"'No. I ain't got a vote!'"—Spare Moments.

A BIG BULL

Killed After a Desperate Battle.

Farmer Used a Corn Knife to Save His Life.

Painesville, O., Oct. 2.—(Spl.)—Theodore Lapham, a farmer, was attacked by a bull and killed the animal with a heavy corn knife after a desperate fight. Lapham was leading the animal up a narrow lane to the barnyard when it suddenly turned with a snort of rage and knocked him into a fence corner.

The bull pinned him there before he could get to his feet and attempted to gore him in the side. Lapham held to one horn and with his free hand grasping the heavy corn knife he carried rained blow after blow over the bull's lowered head, neck and shoulders. Bleeding from a score of wounds, and blinded by its own blood, the animal backed off a moment and Lapham crawled through the fence. He crept to the house and fainted on the doorstep. The bull fell dead.
